Spring is just around the corner. Let's get together and discuss cropping plans & options. We'll have a few guests to get our creative thoughts flowing.

Jeff Liebert, Cornell grad student studying with Professor Matt Ryan, will discuss:

- Rolled Rye for weed control w/ soybeans planted into the cover &
- Winter grains for forages—the potential for double cropping.

Brian Caldwell, Extension Associate also working in Professor Matt Ryan's lab, will provide background and:

- Key findings from the 6 year Cornell Organic Cropping Systems Project.

Looking forward to seeing you and having a lively discussion
