1.14.2022 Updates from Cornell Cooperative Extension's SWNY Dairy, Livestock, and Field Crops Program

A partnership between Cornell University and the Cornell Cooperative Extension Associations in these five counties: Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Erie, and Steuben.

*Thank you American National, Country Crossroads Feed and Seed LLC, Laing-Gro, LVM Materials LLC, and Wild Acres Family Farm for sponsoring this Weekly Update.
Is your business looking for local advertising opportunities?*

Dealing with Lice on our Ruminant Species

Lice can be a burdensome parasite, where affected animals can experience discomfort to the point of losing production. Learn about the thresholds and strategy for treatment in this article!

Dairy Revenue Protection – What Does it Even Mean?

If you're a dairy farmer new to insurance, your head might be spinning every time you hear or read something about Dairy-RP or LGM-Dairy or MPP-Dairy! While the best thing you can do to learn more about Dairy Revenue Protection in general is to call up a certified crop insurance agent, hopefully this "glossary" from Farm Business Management Specialist, Katelyn Walley-Stoll, can help you get started.

SWNY farmers invited to participate in the Northeast Beef x Dairy Survey

Researchers at the University of Connecticut and Penn State University are working together to determine how early life impacts these young, growing calves, and need your help! Click here to learn more about how you can contribute and for the chance to win a $50 Visa gift card.

The story behind the scours - Hoard's Dairyman

Scours is one of the most common calfhood illnesses, and it remains a widespread issue on farms. Determining the true cause of scours can lead to more effective treatment and care of calves. Learn how to identify the main issues on this article by Margaret Quaassdorff and Alycia Drwencke.

Cold Temperature Management for Pigs

For pigs that are kept outside or in non-heated shelters, managing heat loss can be a struggle. Pigs that can't keep warm have an increased number of health problems, reduced growth rates, and decreased reproductive performance. Understanding how pigs tolerate and adapt to cold temperatures can help us alter our management schemes to best meet their needs.

Do a Deep Dive into Your Financials and Improve Your Decision Making!

Join Katelyn Walley-Stoll and a team of Farm Business Management Specialists from across the state to better understand how financial statements assist in making rational farm decisions. Annie's Project Know Your Numbers and Know Your Options is a unique, hands-on workshops series for women ready to improve their financial literacy! Registration is $100/farm with scholarships available.

Make room for transition cows by Katelyn Allen - Hoard's Dairyman

Check out this article featuring North Country Ag team Dairy Specialist Lindsay Ferlito talking about the dry cow and fresh cow housing and management in the Transition Cow Tuesday series. If you missed the series, you can still watch the recordings here
