Understanding Tar Spot

Tar spot, a foliar disease of corn, has made its way into New York and is impacting our cropping system. Learn more about this disease, what it's commonly confused with, and how to manage it on your farm.

Weekly USDA Farmer's Market Price Reporting Data is Starting to Come in!

This weekly price reporting information shows the range and average prices that farmers across the state receive for vegetables, fruit, meats, and dairy products using Square Point of Sale software. This article shares more about the project as well as opportunities to get involved and contribute to the price reporting.

Sell At Farmers Markets? We Need Your Help!

CCE and the Farmers Market Federations of NY have put together a survey to establish Benchmarks for farmers market costs, prices, and standards. Please consider completing the survey if you sell your products at markets!

Core Values – What they are and how to establish them – from Barry Putnam (PRO-DAIRY)

Clarifying your core values can be a great exercise to bring together your farm management team and develop clear goals to move forward with.
