Dry Weather and Residual Herbicides: What Should Growers Expect?

Dust is starting to fly which is bringing in some pre-emergent herbicide questions: What is happening to my PRE herbicides? Are they still there? And do I need to adjust my weed management plans? Check out this article for more insight on making weed management decisions with dry weather conditions.

Tips to Save Farmers Money on Fuel and Fertilizer

Rising prices for diesel fuel, fertilizer and other farm inputs continue to strain the agricultural sector at planting season. Penn State Extension shares options available to help farmers be efficient.
